

History: Connie was not always the adorable plant demon that she is today. Several years ago, Connie was actually a 28-year-old male grade-school dropout named Connor, with little left to his name but a small apartment that he was late on payments for, and no job with which to make them. After considering his options, he had decided to take one more chance at finding a job before he was going to give up and lose his apartment and all that was left in his possession.

Luckily, however, despite the ongoing recession, he managed to stumble upon an odd request for help from an agency, promising “food and lodging to be provided, as well as generous payments.” With nothing left to lose but his bare livelihood, Connor decided to call the unnamed agency. When presented with the chance to be a demon, after being shown such powers, he took them up immediately. Thus it was with much surprise that she was quickly interviewed, given the job, and without warning found herself in a female body of a real-life plant demon.

While she complained vigorously against this sudden change of affairs, she was told that it was the space they were filling, and that she would have to live with it. After the initial shock wore off, Connie quickly became used to her form, and now has no desire to return to her old human form, viewing many more advantages of her current form over her old human body.

Initially given regular missions to complete in order to pay for her livelihood and her changes, she has now gained more freedom, and is now only bound to perform occasional missions that she now has more bargaining power over, leaving her time to restart her life where it had been abruptly ended and changed: in the 7th grade. Her shape-changing ability helped immensely in her attempt to get accepted to a school that would tolerate her abilities, as she could change her appearance subtly until it looked like a normal 13-year-old, though she is actually 31.

Future Goals: She wants to regain her life and gain a real education that she missed out on after the 6th grade.

Likes: Thanks to her plant-like nature, she has a particular love for gardening, and in her spare time she often can be found doing either this, or studying in a library in order to be a good student. While not perfect, she gets very good grades. She also likes easy-listening music, as well as non-modern classical and jazz.

Dislikes: She has lagophobia (fear of rabbits) and intense pyrophobia (fear of fire). While she hates all rodents and bugs, she has a particular fear of rabbits, thanks to one that nibbled on her leg in an early mission. Her fear of fire is so great that she avoids looking at it, will almost go into shock when someone surprises her with it, and will be nearly paralyzed in fear when she sees it. She also dislikes extended listening sessions of rock music, especially heavy metal, as well as modern classical music.

Living Arrangements: She lives in her own home. While somewhat large of a lot (large enough to have a two story home cozy (but not cramped) for two people living together in addition to a moderately sized garden on the left side (20'x30')) Connie owns the lot and house herself. The cost however, has left her in debt to her demon boss, and the open debt is serviced by her cooperation with various entities in her school. She is preparing to sublet one of the rooms out to earn a little extra money on the side, now that she only has time to take fewer missions to earn spending money.